UniversitySite seamlessly blends training and development opportunities by Information Technology, Professional Development, and Human Resources into a single, unified Learning Center for attorneys and staff.

Designed For Law Firms

UniversitySite is the award winning learning management system from Profsciencē Partners that enables firms to manage training across all offices and provides a single point of entry to instructor-led training, eLearning, compliance programs, and content management. Unlike any other LMS, UniversitySite is designed to complement the way law firms deliver training and development for attorneys and staff.

Learning Center

UniversitySite identifies relevant content for each employee and provides a personalized Learning Center where employees can find materials of interest without being distracted by those that are not relevant. Through the Learning Center, employees can confidentially review their learning plans that include specific learning requirements, expectations, and deadlines. Best of all, firm management can monitor group and individual progress as employees work their way through learning plan completion.

When employees browse the calendar through the Learning Center, the Catalog and Calendar are automatically filtered to show content relevant to job and location.

InstructorSite

InstructorSite is the administrative platform for UniversitySite, where training resources are assigned and scheduled, and course content is cataloged and posted. InstructorSite is also used to monitor both group and individual learner progress, and provides access to reports that track training activities, registration, and completion.

Some of the nation's leading law firms have implemented UniversitySite as an integral part of their learning strategy to improve employee skills and develop knowledge and expertise.
